Conflict of Great Intensity Being Carried On.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM SUCCESS

Teutonic Allies Sweep Forward on Frontier—French Report Gains
North of Souchez and Lose Heavily at Argonne.

London, June 26.—Along that most crucial sector of the Dniester battle-front in Galicia, between Zyrardow and Halicz, heavy fighting is going on.
There is some conflict over the situation, according to the official reports.
The Russians assert that they have punished the Austro-German forces
there and that, by rushing up reinforcements, they have compelled them to retreat across the river. Berlin admits this reverse, but the Austrian communication says the Teutonic attack there is making progress.

Invaders Sweeping Forward.
North of this area and still farther north, over the frontier in Poland, the Austro-German advances are sweeping forward.

Whatever the outcome of the struggle along the Dniester, the Russian armies have met with such reverses that, in the belief of military experts, from the standpoint of the allies, the western theater seems to be the only quarter which holds out the possibility of a decisive action during the summer.

The French and German claims regarding the fighting on the western front are widely at variance.

Military observers here believe that the French still have their eyes on Lille, with its factories and railroad lines, and advance the theory that the recurrent and persistent attacks week
in and week out along virtually the same section of the German front proves this.

Puzzled as to Next Move.
Though meeting with the hardest resistance on the Dniester, the initiative in the east still rests with the Austro-Germans.

Few military writers care to hazard
a guess of what their next move will be.

It is argued by them that the situation in the west may at any moment
become pressing, and that Germany
and Austria may be forced to be content with having recovered Galicia and broken the Russian offensive without seeking further to humiliate her at this time.

FRENCH REPORT: GAINS NORTH OF SOUCHEZ.

Paris, June 26.—The war office made public the following official communication:

"Of the region to the north of Arras there is only to report a rather violent cannonading to the north of Souchez and to the north of Neuville and an engagement with grenades to the east of the 'Labyrinth'."

"At Laboisselle (to the east of Albert), the enemy has exploded two mines without any result."

"Between the Oise and the Aisne
there has been artillery firing, particularly in the region of Quenneviers."

"To the west of the Argonne a few engagements with grenades enabled us to make some slight progress."

"In the Vosges, a German attack at the Hilgen first was repulsed. In the course of the counter-attack,
which we made June 23 in the region of Haut-Sapt, we captured four machine guns, and a large quantity of rifle cartridges and grenades."

HAND-TO-HAND CLASH FAVORABLE TO TEUTONS.

Berlin, June 26.—The German army
headquarters staff gave out the following official statement:

"We captured several machine guns
after hand-to-hand fighting, south of Souchez. Repeated enemy advances against 'the labyrinth' positions were repulsed."

"On the western border of the Argonne an attack of a French battalion against our new positions, which we had pushed forward, broke down under heavy losses. During the final thrust we took another trench and two blockhouses. Three additional machine guns and three mine throwers
were captured."

"In the Meuse hills attacks commenced by the French to the west of Detriches failed completely. East of Detriches we recaptured a stubbornly defended communication trench
from the enemy."

"At Leintrey, east of Luneville, minor enemy enterprises were repulsed."

2 DEAD, NINE HURT, IN GASOLINE BLAST

Experiments Under Government Direction Prove Fatal.

Pittsburg, June 26.—Ten were burned,
two fatally, by an explosion at the plant of the Aetna Chemical company,
where experiments are being made under government direction of a new process for the manufacture of gasoline.

Stephen Homer, aged twenty, died after being taken to a hospital, and Donald Baker, seventeen, succumbed
at midnight.

Local representatives of the company maintained secrecy regarding the cause of the explosion, but, according to the police, it resulted from an experiment being made by Superintendent Lobdell.

Officials of the company denied that the plant was being used for the manufacture of explosives or of chemicals, but as an experimental station.

RAILROAD FINE IS REVOKED

District Court Decision in Two-Cent
Fare Case Reversed.

St. Paul, June 26.—Officials of the St. Paul road escaped punishment for alleged violation of the 2-cent fare law in 1913 by a decision of the state supreme court.

The court reversed the findings of Judge Albert Johnson of Red Wing, who in March, 1914, found the railroad officials guilty of violating the law and imposed a fine of $5,000 upon them.

The railroad officials appealed on the ground that they were enjoined
from establishing a 2-cent rate by order of the federal court. The lower court had refused to permit the writ
of injunction as evidence at the trial.
The supreme court holds that this was an error and reversed the lower court's decision.

The ruling is not of much importance now, as the United States court
since the case was tried has upheld the 2-cent law passed in 1907. The rate is now in operation in Minnesota.

GOLD WATCH GIVEN BRYAN

Employees of State Department Remember Former Secretary.

Washington, June 26.—Employees of the state department presented former Secretary Bryan with an engraved gold watch. Every one in the department contributed to the fund with which the gift was purchased and the presentation was made by Cone Johnson, solicitor of the department.

In accepting the watch Mr. Bryan said that he would treasure it particularly because he recognized that it was given as a personal token and not as "an expression of political attachment."

HEARS 10,000 DIVORCE
CASES; TAKES BRIDE.

Chicago, June 26.—Harry S.
Tansey, minute clerk in the divorce court for the last four years, who has listened to the testimony in approximately 10, 000 divorce cases, took out a marriage license here.

Undaunted by the record of matrimonial misfits whose plants he has heard, Tansey
is to marry Catherine D. Mes-
call, also a county employe.

Battle Line of Teutons and Russians

This map shows the scene of operations between the German and Austrians on one side, and the Russians on the other, one of the greatest operations of the war. The battle now rages is centered between Grodek and Lemberg, but it really covers a front of sixty miles, reaching from the Russian frontier of South Prussia through Grodek and down to the great swamps on the Dniester River,
as shown in the dark line on the map.
The Germans are attacking the Russians from the direct west, as well

as marching in from the northwest.
The Austrians are moving from the southwest.

At the time this map was made the Russians had not been driven back to Lemberg, but they were no more than ten miles west of it. The Russian armies are making every effort to hold Lemberg, but there is fear among the Allies they will not be able to do so. This is due to the known fact that the Russians are short of arms and ammunition. Enormous quantities are being shipped to them from the United States though there is doubt if any of this will reach the Grand Duke Nicholas, in charge of the Russians, in time. They had expected to hold the Teutons at the lakes west of Grodek. This movement having failed they may have to fall back on Lemberg, which might mean eventually the evacuation of this important point they took from

GERMAN PAPER INFLUENCES SENTIMENT IN CONTROVERSY BETWEEN U. S. AND GERMANY

(By United Press)

Berlin, June 26.—A strong editorial in the Berliner Tageblatt, a powerful exponent of the German chancellor's policies, is expected to have an important influence on the German-American situation. It gives a comprehensive survey of the misunderstanding and will go a long way toward checking the reaction that is expected before the next German reply is sent to Washington. The editorial stated that it was evident America was as badly misinformed as to Germany's attitude as Germany was regarding the United States.

The first messages from Germany to the United States expressed German indifference as to whether the United States entered the war, and these were gross misrepresentations, the fact being that Germany was anxious to maintain the friendliness of the United States.

The editorial also disclaimed the responsibility for statements of German-Americans against the United States government. The present relations are not bad on the ammunition problem, the only difficult thing being to reach a satisfactory agreement, although the United States is helping to prolong the war, legally however.

Public opinion demands that Germany continue to use submarine warfare as Germany's only weapon against England.

DEFENDS USE OF GAS

(By United Press)

Berlin, June 26.—An official statement by the government defends the use of asphyxiating gas bombs by the Germans, claiming that the French and English used gas bombs long before the Germans started to use them, and they also claim that it is possible to see gas clouds slowly approaching making it possible to flee. In Flanders the allies flooded the trenches, and the claim is made that there is no difference in this method.

THAW'S CONDUCT EXEMPLARY

Trial Witnesses Testify—Eliot to Be Quizzed.

New York, June 26.—Harry K. Thaw was described at the trial to test his sanity as a man who was perfectly rational and more kind, generous, charitable, a man of broad intellect and one worthy of being introduced in the best social circles.

His eulogizers consisted of a dozen men and women whom he had met
during his sojourn in New Hampshire
after his escape from the Matteawan insane asylum.

They came to New York at the request of Thaw's attorneys to do the best they could, they admitted to show their confidence in Thaw and their belief that he should be set free as a sane man.

Justice Hendrick granted the order for a commission to examine President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard as to why Thaw was expelled from that institution in 1892. The examination will be conducted at Cambridge, Mass., on Monday.

TIE-UP BUILDING INDUSTRY

Employing Interests in Chicago Orders Lockout.

Chicago, June 26.—A general lock-out of Chicago's building industry was ordered after an all-day meeting of every interest in the building industry
—financial, materials and contracting.
Material manufacturers will cease
work and close down their yards, contractor's will lay off their men and the financial interests of the city will back them, it was said.

The burden of blame for the tie-up
was placed on the striking carpenters,
who have refused to arbitrate their dispute over wages, although they have been on strike more than a month.

Thirty-one Conspirators Free.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26.—Thirty-one Terre Haute poll fraud conspirators were released from jail here at the expiration of their sentences of sixty days each. Costs, amounting to $901.53—the share of the thirty-one in the expenses of the trial, were paid to the federal government, in addition to fines of $1 each.

GERMAN AEROPLANE SINKS SUBMARINE.

Berlin, June 26.—For the first time in history an aero-plane has sunk a submarine.
German airmen bombarded a Russian submarine in the Baltic near Gotland island on May 31. The success of the bombardment was not known until positive advices reached the German war office from Petrograd that the submarine
had been sunk.

Chamber of Deputies Votes Amount for Three Months.

RIBOT'S PLEA IS UNANSWERED

Germans Declare Ability to Place
Eighteen More Army Corps in Field.
Russ Claim Capture of 130,000 During Retreat.

Paris, June 26.—The bill appropriating 5,600,000,000 francs ($1,120,000, 000) to cover government expenses
for the three months beginning July 1 was passed almost unanimously in the Chamber of Deputies. The vote was 492 to 1.

Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance,
in a speech on the bill prior to its passage, said he recognized the necessity of France buying as little abroad
for the requirement of war as possible.

To do so, he asserted, would be one of the most important economies for the country. Up to the present there had not been the least monetary depreciation, French credit was intact
and France felt no embarrassment, notwithstanding all her requirements.

GERMANS HAVE NEW CORPS FOR WAR.

Zurich, Switzerland, June 26.—According to an authoritative military source Germany will be able to place eighteen more army corps in the field
by the end of July.

These are composed chiefly of the second category of the landsturm, comprising men who have never performed military service, but are now in training, and inland reserves which have been resting in the interior of Germany.

It is calculated that these new corps
will about equal in number the exhausted troops returning from Galicia.

RUSS CAPTURE 130,000 IN GALICIAN RETREAT.

London, June 26.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail, commenting on the fact that the Russian army has remained intact during seven weeks' retreat in Galicia, says
this army has inflicted tremendous losses on the enemy, having captured in the course of these operations 130, 000 men, nearly 300 machine guns and 60 cannon. He continues:

"That the Russian flanks are firm is proved by their successes on the Dniester and Tanew rivers."

GERMANY DEFENDS USE OF GAS FUMES

Statement Declares Foes First Attempted Asphyxiation.

Berlin, June 26.—A semi-official statement has been issued here explaining and defending the German use of asphyxiating gases.

The first point made is that the British and French employed such gases before the Germans, and, in addition to the earlier statements of the German official war reports concerning such alleged use, the statement now cites the text of a communication said to have been issued by the French ministry of war describing two sorts of projectiles designed to produce a stifling gas and the mode of their usage.

The German statement refers to alleged reports published in American newspapers that the Lusitania carried 250,000 pounds of tetra-chloride of tin consigned to the French government and intended for the production of asphyxiating gases.

The statement finally compares the use of gas with the inundation of fighting areas, instancing that both methods are equally humane and that an enemy merely needs to withdraw to escape their effects.

tors over a vicious female lynx, the unarmed.

Conflict of Great Intensity Being Carried On.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM SUCCESS

Teutonic Allies Sweep Forward on Frontier—French Report Gains North of Souchez and Lose Heavily at Argonne.

London, June 26.—Along that most crucial sector of the Dniester battle-front in Galicia, between Zorawna and Halicz, heavy fighting is going on. There is some conflict over the situation, according to the official reports.

The Russians assert that they have punished the Austro-German forces there and that, by rushing up reinforcements, they have compelled them to retreat across the river. Berlin admits this reverse, but the Austrian communication says the Teutonic attack there is making progress.

Invasion Sweeping Forward.
North of this area and still farther north, over the frontier in Poland, the Austro-German advances are sweeping forward.

Whatever the outcome of the struggle along the Dniester, the Russian armies have met with such reverses that, in the belief of military experts, from the standpoint of the allies, the western theater seems to be the only quarter which holds out the possibility of a decisive action during the summer.

The French and German claims regarding the fighting on the western front are widely at variance.

Puzzled as to Next Move.

Though meeting with the hardest resistance on the "Dniester," the initiative in the east still rests with the Austro-Germans.

Few military writers care to hazard a guess of what their next move will be.

It is argued by them that the situation in the west may at any moment become pressing, and that Germany and Austria may be forced to be content with having recovered Galicia and broken the Russian offensive without seeking further to humiliate her at this time.

"At Laboisselle (to the east of Albert), the enemy has exploded two mines without any result."

"To the west of the Argonne a few engagements with grenades enabled us to make some slight progress."

District Court Decision in Two-Cent Fare Case Reversed.

St. Paul, June 26.—Officials of the St. Paul road escaped punishment for alleged violation of the 2-cent fare law in 1913 by a decision of the state supreme court.

The court reversed the findings of Judge Albert Johnson of Red Wing, who in March, 1914, found the railroad officials guilty of violating the law and imposed a fine of $5,000 upon them.

The railroad officials appealed on the ground that they were enjoined from establishing a 2-cent rate by order of the federal court. The lower court had refused to permit the writ of injunction as evidence at the trial. The supreme court holds that this was an error and reversed the lower court's decision.

Paris, June 26.—The bill appropriating 5,600,000,000 francs ($1,120,000,000) to cover government expenses for the three months beginning July 1 was passed almost unanimously in the Chamber of Deputies. The vote was 492 to 1.

Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance, in a speech on the bill prior to its passage, said he recognized the necessity of France buying as little abroad for the requirement of war as possible.

To do so, he asserted, would be one of the most important economies for the country. Up to the present there had not been the least monetary depreciation, French credit was intact and France felt no embarrassment, notwithstanding all her requirements.

GERMANS HAVE NEW CORPS FOR WAR.

Zurich, Switzerland, June 26.—According to an authoritative military source Germany will be able to place eighteen more army corps in the field by the end of July.

These are composed chiefly of the second category of the landsturm, comprising men who have never performed military service, but are now in training, and inland reserves which have been resting in the interior of Germany.

It is calculated that these new corps will about equal in number the exhausted troops returning from Galicia.

RUSS CAPTURE 130,000 IN GALICIAN RETREAT.

London, June 26.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail, commenting on the fact that the Russian army has remained intact during seven weeks' retreat in Galicia, says this army has inflicted tremendous losses on the enemy, having captured in the course of these operations 130,000 men, nearly 300 machine guns and 60 cannons. He continues:

"That the Russian flanks are firm is proved by their successes on the Dniester and Tanew rivers."

Statement Declares Foes First Attempted Asphyxiation.

Berlin, June 26.—A semi-official statement has been issued here explaining and defending the German use of asphyxiating gases.

The first point made is that the British and French employed such gases before the Germans, and, in addition to the earlier statements of the German official war reports concerning such alleged use, the statement now cites the text of a communication said to have been issued by the French ministry of war describing two sorts of projectiles designed to produce a stifling gas and the mode of their usage.

The German statement refers to alleged reports published in American newspapers that the Lusitania carried 250,000 pounds of tetra-chloride of tin consigned to the French government and intended for the production of asphyxiating gases.

The statement finally compares the use of gas with the inundation of fighting areas, instancing that both methods are equally humane and that an enemy merely needs to withdraw to escape their effects.

TWO MEN FIGHT WITH LYNX

North Dakotans Kill Animal in Battle Near Devils Lake.

Devils Lake, N. D., June 26.—In a battle in a wheat field a half mile from Lakota, Fred Hensley and Charles Travnicek were returned victors over a vicious female lynx, the first ever seen in the lake region.

A dray stake was used by Travnicek to kill the lynx, which was ready to spring at Hensley, who was unarmed.

July 4 In Ante-prohibition Days.

One of the earliest genuine Fourth
of July celebrations ever recorded—that
at Independence hall, Philadelphia, in 1790—is chronicled by Christopher Marshall in his diary of the American Revolution. It is a graphic sketch, if not
a lovely one:

"July 4: Commencement began at Philadelphia College this forenoon, at
which many attended. * * * This being the anniversary of our freedom
from English bondage, sundry vessels
saluted the town. * * * The company
of Artillery and the Invaders' Regiment marched to the State House,
where the Congress, President of the State and Council with a number of officers attended; bell-ringing, guns firing till the evening, and until numbers
were so drunk as to reel home."

It was a wonder any Independence
hall was left. Perhaps on account of
that very tendency to irresponsible
drunkenness and equally irresponsible
gunfire the more intelligent classes refrained from encouraging celebrations
of the Fourth at the statehouse.

MEXICO CUT OFF, OFFICIALS WORRY

Resistance to Carranza Invaders Indicated—Famine Conditions Grow
Worse—Fear Is Felt for Foreigners.
Heavy Fighting Reported.

GONZALES IN CAPITAL.

New Orleans, June 26.—Con-
stitutionalist troops under General Pablo Gonzales already
have occupied considerable portion of Mexico City, according
to Vera Cruz reports received
here by Constitutionalist consular officials.
Troops under Zapata had
evacuated parts of the city before the entrance of Gonzales.
It was said.

Washington, June 26.—Anxiety increased in official quarters over the situation in Mexico City, with which
the state department has been unable
to communicate by telegraph for several days.

Brief dispatches from Vera Cruz
said that the Carranza officials are
much chagrined at the apparent failure of General Pablo Gonzales to enter the capital.

Reports that Gonzales is engaged in an artillery duel with the Zapataists gave the first indication that the Villa-Zapata forces in Mexico had determined to offer resistance to the invading Carranza army.

Lines Are Cut Off.

Reliable information indicates that General Gonzales himself cut the lines
of communication between Vera Cruz
and Mexico City to isolate the Zapata
force.

This prevents the state department
from communicating with the Brazilian minister.

Famine conditions in Mexico City
have been growing worse daily and
with the investment by a new army in progress fears are expressed that much suffering to foreigners will ensue.

General Hernandez, commanding
forces in the Monclova district, refuses
to permit American Red Cross agents
to buy corn and beans in Mexico, but
has given permission to bring them
from the United States.

He signified his intention of using
the local supply for relief purposes
himself.

El Paso, Tex., June 26.—Heavy fighting in the vicinity of Aguas Calientes
was reported in Villa advices to United States officials here, but without any indication as to how the gage
of battle stands.

It was stated that General Francisco Villa is directing his troops in person.

PAINT AND PAINT BRUSH.

Now is the Time When Bright Sunlight
Shows All the Dingy Places.

Paint and paint brush should be as close friends of the housewife as are
needle and thread. Perhaps it is the unconscious psychology exercised on
women by good paint advertising or
perhaps it is because they are skillful
at it that they enjoy odd bits of painting about the house. The can of "ready mixed" covers a multitude of sins of
commission from heels, hands, knocks,
scrappings and rough treatment generally.

There is the baby buggy of wicker,
stained and dirty from long use. A small can of stain and a couple of
coats of black on the springs and
wheels will make it withstand the still harder test of spring showers. Then,
baby's iron crib looks as though it has
incipient measles where baby has dented off the enamel with the stock of its toy gun. Two coats, or, better, three,
of white paint and enamel will cover
up the blisters and make the crib as
sanitary and pleasing as when new.

and its pipes appear rustily dingy and
down-in-the-mouth, as it were. Ah, just
the thing! A small can of special stove
paint in black will make the stove
gleam happily again and remove its unkempt air. Perhaps, too, the radiators are spotted and shineless. It is only the work of a half hour to paint
them with special silver or gold radiator paint.

The kitchen is an important field for the use of paint brush and paint. Frequently unsightly plumbing can, as suggested, be made attractive by the various lacquer paints. The pantry
shelves need never be hard to clean
if they are treated to one or two coats
of white enamel. Table drawers also
can be painted, which will prevent
them from absorbing grease and getting so dirty. The legs and front of the ordinary kitchen table will look
better and stay cleaner longer if given
a coat of paint harmonizing with the other colors in the room. Wooden sat-el boxes, strips on which to hang utensils, the space between shelves in many closets, can all be made brighter and
more sanitary by a liberal use of paint.

Under the head of paint must be included the great variety of stains combined with varnish or various other
wood finishes. These are particularly useful in "touching up" floors, wood-
work, certain pieces of furniture, and
in staining soiled wicker and basket
work. Perhaps it is a favorite rocker
which has been kicked and knocked
until the finish is spoiled. It is not very difficult to touch it up or to re-
finish it entirely, first sandpapering it
to remove the old varnish and then
handling it as if it were an entirely new piece. Taborets, small tables,
stools, all these can be made to wear
longer and appear like new if treated
to the magic of the paint brush.

All woods with exposed pores absorb
moisture and grease. Water enters the pores, causes them to swell and thus become disfigured. The more impervious the wood surface can be made
the easier it is to keep it clean and
the longer the wood will last. Paint,
varnish and stain, whose base should always be the best linseed oil, fill the
pores of the wood, coating and rendering it impervious. And paint is not hard to clean. It is the open, untreated woodwork which looks dingy, ab-

Trap For Quotation Experts.

If any one wants a catch question to
spring on a gathering of self confessed
literary sharps let him ask whence
comes the quotation, "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin."
This is one of the six best sellers in the world of quotations, yet not one person in a hundred knows where it
comes from. It is comparatively easy
to guess the author, but almost impossible to find a person who can name
the work.

One could build any number of parlor games around "One touch of nature

Amusing Children On the Fourth

In many families or circles of friends
where there are children a Fourth of July picnic is an annual frolic. It keeps the children out of harm's way.
A thoughtful mother last year purchased ten cent wicker baskets with handles, and into these she packed twelve individual luncheons. The handles were tied together with red, white
and blue ribbons, and each basket was labeled with a patriotic postal, on
which the owner's name was printed
with red and blue crayons.

Another family in which there is a host of lively children will take on
their picnic several rolls of red, white
and blue crepe paper, a paper of pins,
a pair of scissors, a dozen or more toy
swords and guns, along with the many
good things to eat. Later in the afternoon the clever fingers of an ingenious
older sister will convert these materials into military outfits—epaulets, caps,
etc.—to make a patriotic little army of youngsters.

"Surprise pies" are not new or novel;
still when they are presented in some
new guise they never fail to please. A gigantic firecracker can easily be made
by using a full sized sheet of paste-
board rolled into a cylinder. Cover
this with two sheets of smooth red
paper, having a piece of string showing at the end to represent a fuse.
Have both ends of the cracker covered with a thin layer of paper and through small slits have protruding strings or
ribbons attached to the gifts inside.

In regard to the proclamation and publication of the Declaration of Independence (meaning the document itself)
it must be noted that it was intended
for the world at large rather than the colonists. The Declaration of Independence—that is, the formal resolution of the Continental congress of
severance of allegiance from the mother country—was adopted July 2 after having been much debated (principally
in committee of the whole, Benjamin Harrison in the chair) from June 7,
when it was offered by Richard Henry
Lee. The fact that it was passed was published in the Pennsylvania Gazette
of July 3. Few things show the difference in temperament of newspapers
and public as regards "news" as does
the fact that this great Declaration,
which initiated the most profound political change in the country and made
all the members of the congress traitors
in the eye of British law, was not announced on the front page, but was
printed on an inside page, without
comment or special display, except that a portion of the resolution was put in captitals.

The first publication of the text of
the Declaration was in Towne's Pennsylvania Evening Post of July 6, and,
as has often been remarked, on the
page facing the statement that all men
are endowed "with liberty" is an advertisement of a negro boy for sale,
four or five years old, who "has had smallpox and measles." It is also
worth noting that in the engrossed
States" not "United States."

Independence Day

By JOHN PIERPONT

Day of glory, welcome day,
Freedom's banners greet thy ray.
See how cheerfully they play
With thy morning breeze
On the rocks where pilgrims kneel'd,
On the heights where squadrons
wheel'd,
When a tyrant's thunder peal'd
O'er the trembling seas.

God of peace, whose spirit fills
All the echoes of our hills,
All the murmurs of our rills,
Now the storm is o'er,
Oh, let freemen be our sons,
And let future Washingtons
Rise to lead their valiant ones
Till there's war no more.

By the patriot's hallowed rest,
By the warrior's gory breast,
Never let our graves be press'd
By a despot's throne.
By the pilgrims' toils and cares,
By their battles and their prayers,
By their ashes let our heirs
Bow to thee alone!

E. G. Haymaker, shooting in the fourth event at the Riverside Gun club shoot, was the victim of a gun explosion. The breech block blew back, gave way and sailed by, skinning his nose. Powder singed his face and hurt his eyes. After receiving first aid in the way of court plaster, Editor Haymaker, who has the Mot-

valiantly stuck to his post and said,

Farmer and Son Killed.

July 4 In Anti-prohibition Days.

One of the earliest genuine Fourth
at Independence hall, Philadelphia, in 1790—is chronicled by Christopher Marshall in his diary of the American Revolution. It is a graphic sketch, if not
a lovely one.

"July 4: Commencement began at Philadelphia College this forenoon, at
which many attended. * * * This be-
from English bondage, sundry vessels
saluted the town. * * * The company
of Artillery and the Invaders' Regi-
ment marched to the State House,
where the Congress, President of the State and Council with a number of officers attended; bell-ringing, guns firing till the evening, and until numbers
were so drunk as to reel home."

hall was left. Perhaps on account of
that very tendency to irresponsible
gunfire the more intelligent classes re-
frained from encouraging celebrations
of the Fourth at the statehouse.

cated—Famine Conditions Grow
Heavy Fighting Reported.

New Orleans, June 26.—Con-
stitutionalist troops under General Pablo Gonzales already
have occupied considerable portion of Mexico City, according
to Vera Cruz reports received
here by Constitutionalist con-
sular officials.

Troops under Zapata had
evacuated parts of the city before the entrance of Gonzales.
It was said.

Washington, June 26.—Anxiety increased in official quarters over the
situation in Mexico City, with which
the state department has been unable
to communicate by telegraph for several days.

Brief dispatches from Vera Cruz
said that the Carranza officials are
much chagrined at the apparent failure of General Pablo Gonzales to enter the capital.

Lines Are Cut Off.

Reliable information indicates that General Gonzales himself cut the lines
of communication between Vera Cruz
and Mexico City to isolate the Zapata
force.

This prevents the state department
from communicating with the Brazil-
ian minister.

Famine conditions in Mexico City
have been growing worse daily and
with the investment by a new army in
progress fears are expressed that much suffering for foreigners will ensue.

General Hernandez, commanding
forces in the Monclova district, refuses
to permit American Red Cross agents
to buy corn and beans in Mexico, but
has given permission to bring them
from the United States.

He signified his intention of using
the local supply for relief purposes
himself.

El Paso, Tex., June 26.—Heavy fight-
ing in the vicinity of Aguas Calientes
was reported in Villa advices to United States officials here, but without any indication as to how the gage of battle stands.

It was stated that General Francisco Villa is directing his troops in
person.

Now is the Time When Bright Sunlight
Shows All the Dingy Places.

Paint and paint brush should be as
unconscious psychology exercised on
women by good paint advertising or
at it that they enjoy odd bits of painting about the house. The can of "ready
commission from heels, hands, knocks,
scrappings and rough treatment generally.

There is the baby buggy of wicker,
small can of stain and a couple of
wheels will make it withstand the still
harder test of spring showers. Then,
baby's iron crib looks as though it has
incipient measles where baby has dented off the enamel with the stock of its
sanitary and pleasing as when new.

down-in-the-mouth, as it were. Ah, just
the thing! A small can of special stove
paint in black will make the stove
gleam happily again, and remove its unpleasant air. Perhaps, too, the radiators are spotted and shineless. It is
them with special silver or gold radi-
ator paint.

the use of paint brush and paint. Frequently unsightly plumbing can, as
shelves need never be hard to clean
of white enamel. Table drawers also
them from absorbing grease and getting so dirty. The legs and front of
the ordinary kitchen table will look
better and stay cleaner longer if given
a coat of paint harmonizing with the other colors in the room. Wooden salt boxes, strips on which to hang utensils, the space between shelves in many
closets, can all be made brighter and
more sanitary by a liberal use of paint.

Under the head of paint must be included the great variety of stains combined with varnish or various other
useful in "touching up" floors, wood-
work. Perhaps it is a favorite rocker
which has been kicked and knocked
very difficult to touch it up or to re-
finish it entirely, first sandpapering it
to remove the old varnish and then handing it as if it were an entirely new piece. Tabletops, small tables,
stools, all these can be made to wear
to the magic of the paint brush.

becomes disfigured. The more impervious the wood surface can be made
the easier it is to keep it clean and
the longer the wood will last. Paint,
always be the best linseed oil, fill the
pores of the wood, coating and rendering it impervious. And paint is not
hard to clean. It is the open, untreat-
ed woodwork which looks dingy, ab-

Trip For Quotation Experts.

spring on a gathering of self confessed
comes the quotation, "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." This is one of the six best sellers in the world of quotations, yet not one
person in a hundred knows where it
comes from. It is comparatively easy
to guess the author, but almost impossible to find a person who can name
the work.

One could build any number of par-

Amusing Children On the Fourth

In many families or circles of friends
where there are children a Fourth of July picnic is an annual frolic. It keeps the children out of harm's way.
A thoughtful mother last year purchased ten cent wicker baskets with
handles, and into these she packed twelve individual lunches. The handles were tied together with red, white
and blue ribbons, and each basket was
labeled with a patriotic postal, on
which the owner's name was printed
with red and blue crayons.

Another family in which there is a
their picnic several rolls of red, white
and blue crepe paper, a paper of pins,
a pair of scissors, a dozen or more toy
swords and guns, along with the many
good things to eat. Later in the afternoon the clever fingers of an ingenious
older sister will convert these materials
into military outfits—epaulets, caps,
etc.—to make a patriotic little army of
youngsters.

"Surprise pies" are not new or novel;
still when they are presented in some
gigantic firecracker can easily be made
by using a full sized sheet of paste-
board rolled into a cylinder. Cover
paper, having a piece of string showing at the end to represent a fuse. Have both ends of the cracker covered with a thin layer of paper and through
small slits have protruding strings or

In regard to the proclamation and publication of the Declaration of Independence (meaning the document itself)
it must be noted that it was intended
for the world at large rather than the colonists. The Declaration of Independence—that is, the formal resolution of the Continental congress of
severance of allegiance from the mother country—was adopted July 2 after
having been much debated (principally
in committee of the whole, Benjamin
Harrison in the chair) from June 7,
when it was offered by Richard Henry
Lee. The fact that it was passed was
published in the Pennsylvania Gazette
of July 3. Few things show the difference in temperament of newspapers
and public as regards "news" as does
the fact that this great Declaration,
which initiated the most profound political change in the country and made
all the members of the congress traitors
in the eye of British law, was not an-
printed on an inside page, without
comment or special display, except that
a portion of the resolution was put in captials.

The first publication of the text of
the Declaration was in Towne's Pennsylvania Evening Post of July 6, and,
as has often been remarked, on the
page facing the statement that all men
are endowed "with liberty" is an advertisement of a negro boy for sale,
four or five years old, who "has had
worth noting that in the engrossed
states" not "United States."

Independence Day

By JOHN PIERPONT

Day of glory, welcome day,
Freedom's banners greet thy ray.
See how cheerfully they play
With thy morning breeze
On the rocks where pilgrims kneel'd,
On the heights where squadrons
wheel'd.

When a tyrant's thunder peal'd
O'er the trembling seas

God of peace, whose spirit fills
All the echoes of our hills,
All the murmurs of our rills,
Now the storm is o'er.
Oh, let freemen be our sons,
And let future Washingtons
Rise to lead their valiant ones
Till there's war no more.

By the patriot's hallowed rest,
By the warrior's gory breast,
Never let our graves be press'd
By a despot's throne.
By the pilgrims' toils and cares,
By their battles and their prayers,
By their ashes let our heirs
Bow to thee alone!

The band concert and ice cream social of the Brainerd Booster band given Friday evening at the Harrison school grounds was an unqualified success. Hundreds were present. Scores of automobiles were parked about the grounds.

Twenty-five or more gallons of ice cream were sold and there was a cry for more. The play ground apparatus swung in unison with the tempo of the band. Children in knickerbockers, children in go-carts, children in baby buggies, children of all sizes and ages were present.

The band played through the whole program, and that was a generous one too and then gave encores freely. It was a grand evening and everybody was delighted. Southeast Brainerd people say it was the greatest social gathering ever held in that end of town and it was attended by people from all over Brainerd. CURTAIN LAUNDERING.

How to Correctly Wash Lace Curtains and Dry Them.

First, take the measure of all the curtains before putting in the tub. Keep this slip of measurements to adjust the stretchers correctly.

Third, soak in slightly warm water for a half hour, then squeeze gently (never wring) and put in warmer water and rub them good with any white soap. Let soak while the curtain frames are being cleaned by using a small whisk broom and soapsuds, then rinse and dry. Now squeeze the curtains carefully (never rub on a board), remove from this water and place in a boiler of warm water and ammonia and let come to a boil and boil about ten minutes.

Fourth, suds, rinse and blue. Now for the starching, which is a very important part. For six pairs use three tablespoonfuls of good starch to three and one-half quarts of water. Dip a small piece of net in the starch to try it and then dry it quickly and make sure the stiffness the curtain will be when dry.

Fifth, now they are ready for the frames. Take the first one and put over the pin in one corner of the top of the curtain; then go to the bottom of the curtain on the same side and catch up the other corner, then the opposite corners. Now begin in the middle of the curtain and pin two or three, then in the middle between this and the ends either way. Same way with the other sides, also the ends or top and bottom.

Do not draw them along the edges, but with both hands bring them up to the pins in a straight line.

Keep the threads of the curtains always straight and ease in any slight fullness, should there be any, rather than let it come out at ends.

When dry remove carefully and do this one important part: Lay the curtains lengthwise on a bed not in use and fold in the middle lengthways, then once again lengthways, never crossways. When the curtains are on the poles they will hang in lengthwise folds.

The surprise and satisfaction that come from curtains done the right way doubly repay one for all the work.

Scalloped Onions.

Boil six or eight onions until tender, changing the water once. Separate them with a fork and arrange in layers in a buttered earthen dish, alternating the layers with buttered breadcrumbs. Season with salt and pepper, pour over the whole enough rich milk to nearly cover, spread with melted butter and brown in a moderate oven.

U. S. INCREASES CENSORS

Lieut. C. C. Windsor Ordered to Sayville, L. I.

Washington, June 25.—Lieutenant C. C. Windsor was ordered from the New York navy yard to Sayville, L. I., to increase to three the number of government censors there.

Uses For Stale Bread Which Are Somewhat Novel.

Bread that is not very stale can be used to advantage in bread tarts. Cut the bread a quarter of an inch thick and stamp it into circles with a biscuit cutter. Moisten these circles with milk, but do not use enough milk to make them lose their shape. Then spread over them some sort of jam or preserve and place two circles together like a sandwich. Put them in a frying pan with a little butter, and saute them on both sides to a delicate color. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve very hot.

A fruit charlotte is another excellent dessert in which to utilize stale bread. Cut the bread into slices about a quarter of an inch thick, then into strips two inches wide. Butter a mold, clip the slices of bread with melted butter and arrange them around the bottom and sides of the mold, slightly overlapping. Fill the center with apple sauce seasoned with butter and sugar and put a teaspoonful of apricot jam in the center of this. Cover the top of the mold with strips of the bread and bake in a hot oven for thirty minutes. The bread should be amber in color when done. Serve with a hot sauce. Any stewed fruit may be used in making this dessert.

A Cheese Pudding.—Alternate layers of slightly stale bread and grated cheese, moistened with a custard made of one pint of milk, two beaten eggs and half a teaspoonful of salt constitute an excellent luncheon dish. Arrange the bread and cheese in a baking dish, pour the liquid over them, dot the top layer of bread with small pieces of butter and bake for about twenty minutes. A quarter of a teaspoonful of saleratus—that is, bicarbonate of soda, which may be bought at any chemist's—is said to be a valuable addition to cheese pudding, as it aids in digesting the cheese by making easier the solution of the casein.

The canape is a luncheon dish made chiefly of leftover bread.

Cleaning White Clothes.

For cleaning white clothes of any kind, especially white wool, use the common black magnesia. Lay garment on table and rub magnesia into it thoroughly; roll up and lay away for a few days. Then shake out and brush with clean brush. It will look like new and save many a dry cleaner's bill.

Now that the season of white clothes is here it is quite necessary to know how to clean these garments at home.

The band played through the whole program, and that was a generous one too and then gave encores freely. It was a grand evening and everybody was delighted. Southeast Brainerd people say it was the greatest social gathering ever held in that end of town and it was attended by people from all over Brainerd. CURTAIN LAUNDERING.

How to Correctly Wash Lace Curtains and Dry Them.

There is a right as well as a wrong way to do curtains.

Third, soak in slightly warm water for a half hour, then squeeze gently (never wring) and put in warmer water and rub them good with any white soap. Let soak while the curtain frames are being cleaned by using a small whisk broom and soapuds, then rinse and dry. Now squeeze the curtains carefully (never rub on a board), remove from this water and place in a boiler of warm suds and ammonia and let come to a boil and boil about ten minutes.

Fourth, suds, rinse and blue. Now for the starching, which is a very important part. For six pairs use three tablespoonfuls of good starch to three and one-half quarts of water. Dip a small piece of net in the starch to try it and then dry it quickly and make sure the stiffness the curtain will be when dry.

Fifth, now they are ready for the frames. Take the first one and put over the pin in one corner of the top of the curtain; then go to the bottom of the curtain on the same side and catch up the other corner, then the opposite corners. Now begin in the middle of the curtain and pin two or three, then in the middle between this and the ends either way. Same way with the other sides, also the ends or top and bottom.

Keep the threads of the curtains always straight and ease in any slight fullness, should there be any, rather than let it come out at ends.

When dry remove carefully and do this one important part: Lay the curtains lengthwise on a bed not in use and fold in the middle lengthways, then once again lengthways, never crossways. When the curtains are on the poles they will hang in lengthwise folds.

The surprise and satisfaction that come from curtains done the right way doubly repay one for all the work.

Scalloped Onions.

Boil six or eight onions until tender, changing the water once. Separate them with a fork and arrange in layers in a buttered earthen dish, alternating the layers with buttered bread crumbs. Season with salt and pepper, pour over the whole enough rich milk to nearly cover, spread with melted butter and brown in a moderate oven.

U. S. INCREASES CENSORS

Lieut. C. C. Windsor Ordered to Sayville, L. I.

Washington, June 26.—Lieutenant C. C. Windsor was ordered from the New York navy yard to Sayville, L. I., to increase to three the number of government censors there.

THE NECESSITY OF IT

The voters and tax payers of Brainerd are no doubt familiar by this time with the situation regarding the election on Monday, June 28th, at which time they will be asked to vote on an increase in the tax levy and also for the issuance of bonds for the purpose of continuing the improvement of the streets throughout the city. The situation was gone over fully in last night's Dispatch and today a statement signed by the mayor and all the aldermen is being placed in every house in the city in order that every body may be conversant with the facts and understand the necessity of supporting both propositions. The charter amendment calling for an increase in the tax levy for city purposes was asked for by the city council, as the necessity for it was fully recognized by every member of that body and they are unanimous in asking the voters of the city to give it their support at the election on Monday.

The public generally are well informed as to the condition of the streets throughout the city and the need for further improvement. Unless the voters ratify the bond issue there can be no further improvement along this line for several years as there will be no funds immediately available for this purpose, and, as stated in the circular signed by the aldermen, "street improvements must necessarily cease." Property holders have been paying in on these improvements in various parts of the city for several years, and unless the city is in a position to do its part this money will have to be refunded to them.

This matter does not apply to any particular part of the city, but to ALL the city, and in no section will there be funds available for any work of this character if the bond issue fails.

The necessity for carrying both propositions is apparent from the fact that the entire membership of the city council joins in an appeal to the voters of the city for their support in what is termed "a critical and unprecedented financial situation."

It is up to the voters to support the action of the men they have elected to serve the city in the capacity of aldermen, men who have the welfare of the city at heart and who are forced to take this action in order to protect the various city interests and carry on the city government—and at that in the most economical manner possible.

June is keeping up the record for weddings in this section of Minnesota. Crop indications and the war in Europe does not seem to have the least effect on the efforts of Cupid.

Frank Day's county of Martin, the oasis in the dry zone now, went wet at the recent election. Frank is a prohibitionist who would prohibit and he simply says of the result: "The Germans are still getting the best of it over there and in Martin county."

It seems to be the opinion that Harry Thaw will have escaped from his troubles as soon as his money, and that of his friends and relatives willing to let go of their coin, is exhausted. Indications were pointed to an early release from further prosecutions.

The St. Cloud Times fixes it up with Billy Sunday by making the following statement:

"To the Brainerd Dispatch: It was a Minneapolis minister who accused Billy Sunday of using Bob Ingersoll's Memorial Day oration as his own, and, to prove it, quoted both side by side. They were identical, word for word."

The people of Brainerd who wish to take a day's outing at any of the lake resorts up the line of the Minnesota and International as far as Jenkins and can find no other time than Sunday will be given the last opportunity tomorrow. It was hoped that the railroad company would see their way clear to continue this service through the summer, but the statement of General Manager Gemmell in yesterday's Dispatch indicates that it has not been a paying proposition and that the railroad people do not think the time has yet been reached in the history of Brainerd when service of this kind will be profitable, no new business having been created and a large proportion of the passenger business having been detracted from the regular trains that reach this territory. The public demand for this Sunday service to the lake district north of Brainerd has been asserting itself for some time, and many expressions have been heard since the announcement that tomorrow's train would be the last that a fair trial had not been given it to fully establish the fact that it would not pay. If the train was to be continued during the summer months the fact would in itself bring added business, and the public will have to be shown before they believe that it has been given a fair try-out.

PRESIDENT BEGINS A PERIOD OF RESTWill, However, Give Thought to Pressing Situations.

Cornish, N. H., June 26.—Under orders from his physician to take a complete rest, President Wilson settled down at the "Summer White House" for a brief vacation to prepare himself for the arduous work he is expecting with the European and Mexican situations.

The president brought few official documents with him and officials at the White House had orders to forward him only the most pressing business, but nevertheless he plans to give much thought in the quiet seclusion of the Cornish hills to the next step in his new Mexican policy, to the submarine issue with Germany and to the discussion with Great Britain over interference with commerce.

Secretary Lansing will do most of the actual work on the note to Great Britain has already gone over with him the broad questions of policy involved and will see the note before it is forwarded.

The president arrived here after a trip through Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont, marked by frequent ovations from crowds which gathered at every station.

COLONEL COUNTS
ON THE PRIMARIESRoosevelt Will Enter Race If He Thinks He Can Win.

HAS A GOOD SCOUT SYSTEM

Supporters of All of the States Keep Him Well Informed on Public Sentiment—Will Start the Campaign Like a Cyclone if He Finally Decides to Become a Candidate—Suffragists Clash in Washington.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 25.—[Special.]—Those of us who believe that Roosevelt will be a candidate in the early stages of the contest for Republican delegates next year are aware that the colonel will know a great deal about the sentiment in different sections before his hat goes into the ring. This information will be furnished by the best trained corps of scouts in the country. There never was a man who had such a large volunteer army of scouts—I almost said spies—as Theodore Roosevelt. If his information is to the effect that he can capture the Republican nomination he will go in like a whirlwind.

Counts on the Primaries.

Roosevelt counts on the primaries as a means by which the people will choose him if they want him. It was because of the primaries in many states that he was able to muster such a large following in 1912. If he had started earlier he would have captured enough states to have won in spite of the unseating of his delegates. As it was, close figuring shows that at one time a change of fifteen or twenty votes would have given him control of the convention. Roosevelt knows that the politicians will not be as strong in the election of delegates as when the administration seeking a re-election is in power.

A Roosevelt Advantage.

Has any one ever stopped to figure what an advantage Roosevelt will have over the other candidates, supposing there are half a dozen or more in the field? He will be the aggressive, pushing candidate in every state. He will be a candidate in states which have a candidate. No gentlemen's agreement about keeping out of a candidate's state will deter Roosevelt. In those states where there is really no sentiment for anybody in particular, where efforts will be made to send un-instructed delegates Roosevelt will have an advantage. It is a political axiom that you can't beat somebody with nobody. Again, in the states where the half dozen candidates may divide the anti-Roosevelt strength the colonel might come in and win with a plurality.

If he is a candidate—and he won't be until he knows the lay of the land—look out for Roosevelt in the next Republican race.

A Storm Center.

Washington will be the real storm center of the fight between the two wings of the woman suffragists because the headquarters of the militant wing is in the national capital, while the regulars have tried to offset it by having a congressional committee with headquarters in Washington. The Congressional union, the vigorous organization which goes after everybody who opposes it, including the president, is bound to get more publicity because such things get in the papers. The doings of the militants in England were cabled to this country every day.

Japs and Immigration.

It is evident that the Japanese will watch with great interest any move that may be made by the United States in regard to immigration. The Japanese are anxious to place their people upon an equality with Europeans in the matter of admittance to the United States, but it seems that any such attempt will meet with the strongest kind of opposition, particularly from the Pacific coast and Intermountain states.

A Western Opinion.

Senator Ashurst, as breezy as the Arizona plains, expressed his view as to the Wilson-Bryan contention. "Bryan will have some following," he said. "The old fellows with whiskers down to their waists, who pronounce words as they are spelled, and pay their taxes on the very day they fall due, will be for Bryan, but the great majority of people will be for Wilson."

States Are "She."

It has long been determined that a man of war as well as an ordinary passenger ship is a "she." The big powerful Dreadnoughts, with everybody aboard her from admiral to cabin boy of the male sex, is "she." And the supreme court has made the state female also. Justice Hughes in giving the opinion as to Virginia and West Virginia in the matter of the debt referred to each state repeatedly as "she." And there is no going back on the language of the supreme court.

His Four Boys.

They may criticize Secretary Daniels as much as they please, but they can't rattle him as long as his four boys believe in him. And those boys think Josephus is about as good a dad as there is in this country. Daniels also has the backing of the president, who believes that he is the best secretary of the navy that has been in the place for a score of years.

Counts on the Primaries.

Roosevelt counts on the primaries as a means by which the people will choose him if they want him. It was because of the primaries in many states that he was able to muster such a large following in 1912. If he had started earlier he would have captured enough states to have won in spite of the unseating of his delegates. As it was, close figuring shows that at one time a change of fifteen or twenty votes would have given him control of the convention. Roosevelt knows that the politicians will not be as strong in the election of delegates as when the administration seeking a re-election is in power.

A Roosevelt Advantage.

Has any one ever stopped to figure what an advantage Roosevelt will have over the other candidates, supposing there are half a dozen or more in the field? He will be the aggressive, pushing candidate in every state. He will be a candidate in states which have a candidate. No gentlemen's agreement about keeping out of a candidate's state will deter Roosevelt. In those states where there is really no sentiment for anybody in particular, where efforts will be made to send instructed delegates Roosevelt will have an advantage. It is a political axiom that you can't beat somebody with nobody. Again, in the states where the half dozen candidates may divide the anti-Roosevelt strength the colonel might come in and win with a plurality.

If he is a candidate—and he won't be until he knows the lay of the land—look out for Roosevelt in the next Republican race.

A Storm Center.

Washington will be the real storm center of the fight between the two wings of the woman suffragists because the headquarters of the militant wing is in the national capital, while the regulars have tried to offset it by having a congressional committee with headquarters in Washington. The Congressional union, the vigorous organization which goes after everybody who opposes it, including the president, is bound to get more publicity because such things get in the papers. The doings of the militants in England were cabled to this country every day.

Japs and Immigration.

It is evident that the Japanese will watch with great interest any move that may be made by the United States in regard to immigration. The Japanese are anxious to place their people upon an equality with Europeans in the matter of admittance to the United States, but it seems that any such attempt will meet with the strongest kind of opposition, particularly from the Pacific coast and Intermountain states.

A Western Opinion.

Senator Ashurst, as breezy as the Arizona plains, expressed his view as to the Wilson-Bryan contention. "Bryan will have some following," he said. "The old fellows with whiskers down to their waists, who pronounce words as they are spelled, and pay their taxes on the very day they fall due, will be for Bryan, but the great majority of people will be for Wilson."

States Are "She."

It has long been determined that a man of war as well as an ordinary passenger ship is a "she." The big powerful Dreadnoughts, with everybody aboard her from admiral to cabin boy of the male sex, is "she." And the supreme court has made the state female also. Justice Hughes in giving the opinion as to Virginia and West Virginia in the matter of the debt referred to each state repeatedly as "she." And there is no going back on the language of the supreme court.

His Four Boys.

They may criticize Secretary Daniels as much as they please, but they can't ruffle him as long as his four boys believe in him. And those boys think Josephus is about as good a dad as there is in this country. Daniels also has the backing of the president, who believes that he is the best secretary of the navy that has been in the place for a score of years.

SEWER ROUTE IS CHANGED

Council at Special Meeting on Friday Evening Votes to Change Fifth Street Sewer

FIRST ROUTE STRUCK BARNS

All Members of the Council Present at the Meeting Which Lasted but Short Time

At the special meeting of the council held on Friday evening, June 25, the council acted on the report of the committee appointed at the June 21 session to investigate the Fifth street sewer project.

The sewer and street committees had been appointed to sift out the situation. It was moved to abandon construction of lateral sewer B 3, districts 4 and 7. One of the big objections concerned the fact that the sewer passed through the center of the block, necessitating the shifting of many barns, etc.

By resolution adopted, all voting aye, the new route was laid out as follows:

"That a lateral sewer be known as lateral sewer B 3 in district Nos. 4 and 7 be constructed on Fifth street between Laurel and Quince streets in said city and on Oak street between Fourth and Fifth streets."

HEADS STATE BANK IN DULUTH

F. S. Graham, Formerly with Brainerd State Bank of Brainerd, Enters Duluth Field

The Bank Will Pay Special Attention to the Development of Lands Assisting Farmers

The Duluth News Tribune has an article featuring F. S. Graham, at one time connected with the Brainerd State bank. It calls attention to the new bank which Mr. Graham and associates will open in Duluth on September 1. The article reads:

"Duluth's newest financial institution, the Mercantile State bank of Duluth, with a capitalization of $300,000, will be opened Sept. 1. It was announced by H. C. Niblock, to be cashier, last night.

"The bank will pay special attention to development of lands," he declared. "Our object is to co-operate with the farmer and the small investor."

"A three months' careful investigation has convinced men back of this enterprise there is no better field than Duluth and the iron ranges for a bank along co-operative lines," F. S. Graham, president, stated.

Duluth's four national banks, the American Exchange bank, the City National bank, the First National bank and the Northern National bank, have an aggregate capital of $1,750,000. Total deposits are $23,000,000, their statements show.

The men financing the new bank are from North Dakota and the Twin Cities. They already have moved here.

F. S. Graham of Mandan, N. D., who will be president of the institution, formerly was national bank examiner for North Dakota. He is president of the Merchants' National bank of Mandan, N. D.; the First National bank of Streeter, N. D.; the Cayuga State bank of Cayuga, N. D., and the Farmers' State bank, Glen Ullin, N. D.

H. C. Niblock of Minneapolis to be cashier, was with the Mutual Life Insurance company for 12 years. He is now connected with the Hackney Land and Credit company of St. Paul. W. H. Locker, who will be vice president, has extensive interests on the iron ranges.

George McCanna, now auditor of the Mercantile bank of Minneapolis, will be assistant cashier. He is vice president of the McCanna Farming company of North Dakota.

David T. McCanna is secretary of the organization committee. He will be given an office.

DARING BELLE BOYD.

Brilliant and Romantic Career of the Famous War Spy.

Stonewall Jackson's valley campaign was one of the great deeds of history. Not since Napoleon's time have men been so dazzled as they were by that great exploit of his. Yet Stonewall might have gone down the valley in defeat had it not been for a little college girl named Belle Boyd.

The Union general, Shields, was quartered at Miss Boyd's house. He held a council of war there. Miss Boyd bored a hole in the floor of her chamber, which was over Shields' room, and lay there with her ear to it throughout the night. The next morning Stonewall Jackson was in full possession of the plans for a great battle and was able to defeat the Union army.

She kept up her valiant work for the Confederates until the Union officers began to suspect her, and Jackson ordered her to move from her Shenandoah home to Winchester. She had been arrested by the federals and had flitted her way to liberty, for she was a pretty girl despite the libelous photographs of her. In Winchester Jackson conferred upon her a commission as captain in the Confederate army. By this time the whole north had become aware of the services she was rendering the Confederacy, and every officer and private was on the alert to get her. Yet she escaped until 1864, when she was caught on a blockade runner. Her captor lost his heart to her, deserted the navy and married her, and the Prince of Wales, afterward Edward VII., attended the wedding.—New York Times.

Three Car Loads of Machinery Arrive at the Barrows Mining Co. Property in Barrows

C. B. ROWLEY SUPERINTENDENT

Shaft Shoe was Cast at Duluth by National Iron Works—Other Mining News

The people of Barrows are very excited over the arrival of three car loads of machinery this week for the Barrows Mining company. Superintendent Rowley and a crew of men are unloading the same and getting it placed on the Barrow Mining company's property, which is directly south of Barrows where a shaft is to be sunk. The construction of mining buildings are now under way and Superintendent Rowley says that he is going to push the work right ahead for sinking of the shaft and getting the company's property ready for hoisting ore as soon as possible.

P. R. Zimmerman, mining engineer who is connected with the National Iron Works, Duluth, and who was successful in getting the order for the iron shoe for the concrete shaft that the Barrows Mining Co. will sink, stated that the same is now under construction and will be ready for delivery within a few weeks. When this shaft shoe is completed which is under the C. B. Rowley patent, it will be one of the best and most modern shaft shoes that has ever been prepared for mining purposes.

The Wilcox mine of the Canadian Cuyuna Ore Co. at Woodrow has shipped ore to the Canadian Steel Co. of so satisfactory a nature as to please the furnacemen and create a demand for rush orders for more. The first contained 5,400 and 3,500 tons each and a third shipment is to follow soon of 3,500 tons.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd, also on the south range, is getting close to the ore body in its drifts which now extend 65 feet. The ore body is 15 feet distant. The 1,600 gallon electric pump has been installed and is pumping about 200 gallons a minute.

The Inland Steel Co. has a drill working in the northeast quarter of section 10, township 46, range 22. The Thompson mine is washing in its concentrator about 600 tons daily. Ore is being shipped from the concentrator and also directly from the pit. The Armour No. 1 pit mine has uncovered ore, work being carried on by the Pennington people.

At the Brainerd Mining Co. property on the south range drilling is being continued by the corporation which recently increased its capital stock to $125,000. The buildings formerly used by the Virginia Mining Co. are being repaired and the smoke stack painted and many believe that it means a resumption of mining by the fee owners themselves.

W. J. Rattle, an independent chemist of Cleveland, Ohio, has been inspecting the Kennedy mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore Co. at Cuyuna. The Kennedy laid off Thursday on account of the "Midsummer Day" holiday. The Croft mine at Crosby is engaged in staking operations, the crew to be increased shortly.

At the Mahanomen pit, trestles are being built from which to dump the waste into a swamp. The Hill Crest has a unit of its hydraulic system in operation. The Rowe pit is building a huge concentrator which is expected to be in operation in August.

Activities of the United States Steel Corporation are steadily increasing, says the Iron Trade Review. Its plants are now running at slightly under 85 per cent of ingot capacity, which will be augmented by additions now planned, including resumption at the North Sharon plant of the Carnegie Steel Co. and the Columbus works. Bookings of the corporation are keeping ahead of its heavy shipments. Good reports also come from leading independents.

Although the lake ore trade drags, some eastern companies will use greater tonnage of Lake Superior ore than in recent years.

Barrows in the United States have been ordering somewhat more freely and further buying by Russia and other foreign countries is in prospect.

TWO MINDS THAT DID AS ONE.

When Dr. Anna Shaw and Miss Anthony Lectured Together.

We traveled and lectured together so constantly that each of us developed an almost uncanny knowledge of the other's mental processes. At any point of either's lecture the other could pick it up and carry it off—a fortunate condition, as it sometimes became necessary to do this. Miss Anthony was subject to contractions of the throat, which for the moment caused a slight strangulation. On such occasions—of which there were several—she would turn to me and indicate her helplessness. Then I would repeat her last sentence, complete her speech and afterward make my own.

The first time this happened we were in Washington, and Aunt Susan stepped in the middle of a word. She could not speak; she merely motioned to me to continue for her and left the stage. At the end of the evening a prominent Washington man who had been in our audience remarked to me confidentially:

"That was a nice little play you and Miss Anthony made tonight—very effective indeed."

For an instant I did not catch his meaning or the implication in his knowing smile.

"Very clever, that straining bit, and your going on with the speech," he repeated. "It hit the audience hard."

He stared at me incredulously. "Are you going to pretend," he demanded, "that it wasn't a put up job?" I told him he had paid us a high compliment and that we must really have done very well if we had conveyed that impression, and I finally convinced him that we not only had not rehearsed the episode, but that neither of us had known what the other meant to say. We never wrote out our speeches, but our subject was always suffrage or some ramification of suffrage, and naturally we had thoroughly digested each other's views.

A Losing Game.

MAKING MUSIC BOXES.

Great Skill and Messer Pay For the Experts of Geneva.

One big industry of Geneva, Switzerland, is the manufacture of music boxes. Thousands of men, women and children are employed in the factories, one of which was visited by a young American, who thus writes about the visit:

An attendant invited him to take a seat. He did so, and strains of delightful music came from the chair. He hung his hat on a rack and put his traveling staff in the stand. Music came from both rack and stand. He wrote his name in the visitors' register, and on dipping his pen in the ink the music burst forth from the inkstand.

The manager of the factory explained the process of making music boxes, a business which requires patience and dexterity.

The music is marked on the cylinder by a man who has carved several years of apprenticeship. Another man inserts in the marked places pegs which have been filed to a uniform length. The comb or set of teeth which strikes the pegs and makes the sound is arranged by a man who does nothing else. The cylinder is then revolved to see that every peg produces a proper tone.

The most delicate work of all is the revising of each peg. It is done by a

The best workmen—those who mark the cylinder and adjust the pegs—earn $1.50 a day, after serving an apprenticeship of ten or twelve years. An ordinary workman earns $1 a day.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

F. S. Graham, Formerly with Brainerd State Bank of Brainerd, Enters Duluth Field

The Duluth News Tribune has an article featuring F. S. Graham, at one time connected with the Brainerd State bank. It calls attention to the new bank which Mr. Graham and associates will open in Duluth on September 1. The article reads:

"Duluth's newest financial institution, the Mercantile State bank of Duluth, with a capitalization of $300,000, will be opened Sept. 1. It was announced by H. C. Niblock, to be cashier, last night.

"The bank will pay special attention to development of lands," he declared. "Our object is to co-operate with the farmer and the small investor."

"A three months' careful investigation has convinced men back of this enterprise there is no better field than Duluth and the iron ranges for a bank along co-operative lines," F. S. Graham, president, stated.

Duluth's four national banks, the American Exchange bank, the City National bank, the First National bank and the Northern National bank, have an aggregate capital of $1,750,000. Total deposits are $23,000,000, their statements show.

The men financing the new bank are from North Dakota and the Twin Cities. They already have moved here.

F. S. Graham of Mandan, N. D., who will be president of the institution, formerly was national bank examiner for North Dakota. He is president of the Merchants' National bank of Mandan, N. D.; the First National bank of Streeter, N. D.; the Cayuga State bank of Cayuga, N. D., and the Farmers' State bank, Glen Ullin, N. D.

H. C. Niblock of Minneapolis to be cashier, was with the Mutual Life Insurance company for 12 years. He is now connected with the Mackey Land and Credit company of St. Paul.

W. H. Locker, who will be vice president, has extensive interests on the iron ranges.

George McCanna, now auditor of the Mercantile bank of Minneapolis, will be assistant cashier. He is vice president of the McCanna Farming company of North Dakota.

David T. McCanna is secretary of the organization committee. He will be given an office.

DARING BELLE BOYD.

Stonewall Jackson's valley campaign was one of the great deeds of history. Not since Napoleon's time have men been so dazzled as they were by that great exploit of his. Yet Stonewall might have gone down the valley in defeat had it not been for a little college girl named Belle Boyd.

The Union general, Shields, was quartered at Miss Boyd's house. He held a council of war there. Miss Boyd bored a hole in the floor of her chamber, which was over Shields' room, and lay there with her ear to it throughout the night. The next morning Stonewall Jackson was in full possession of the plans for a great battle and was able to defeat the Union army.

She kept up her valiant work for the Confederates until the Union officers began to suspect her, and Jackson ordered her to move from her Shenandoah home to Winchester. She had flirted her way to liberty, for she was a pretty girl despite the libelous photographs of her. In Winchester Jackson conferred upon her a commission as captain in the Confederate army. By this time the whole north had become aware of the services she was rendering the Confederacy, and every officer and private was on the alert to get her. Yet she escaped until 1864, when she was caught on a blockade runner. Her captor lost his heart to her, deserted the navy and married her, and the Prince of Wales, after Edward VII, attended the wedding.—New York Times.

The people of Barrows are very glad over the arrival of three car loads of machinery this week for the Barrows Mining company. Superintendent Rowley and a crew of men are unloading the same and getting it placed on the Barrow Michler company's property, which is directly south of Barrows where a shaft is to be sunk. The construction of mining buildings are now under way and Superintendent Rowley says that he is going to push the work right ahead for sinking of the shaft and getting the company's property ready for hoisting are as soon as possible.

P. R. Zimmerman, mining engineer who is connected with the National Iron Works, Duluth, and who was successful in getting the order for the iron shoe for the concrete shaft that the Barrows Mining Co. will sink, stated that the same is now under construction and will be ready for delivery within a few weeks. When this shaft shoe is completed which is under the C. B. Rowley patent, it will be one of the best and most modern shaft shoes that has ever been prepared for mining purposes.

The Wilcox mine of the Canadian Cuyuna Ore Co. at Woodrow has shipped ore to the Canadian Steel Co. so satisfactory a nature as to please the furnacemen and create a demand for rush orders for more. The first contained 3,400 and 3,500 tons each and a third shipment is to follow soon of 3,500 tons.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd, also on the south range, is getting close to the ore body in its drifts which now extend 65 feet. The ore body is 15 feet distant. The 1,600 gallon electric pump has been installed and is pumping about 200 gallons a minute.

The Inland Steel Co. has a drill working in the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 19, township 46, range 22. The Thompson mine is washing in its concentrator about 600 tons daily. Ore is being shipped from the concentrator and also directly from the pit. The Armour No. 1 pit mine has uncovered ore, work being carried on by the Pennington people.

At the Brainerd Mining Co. property on the south range drilling is being continued by the corporation which recently increased its capital stock to $125,000. The buildings formerly used by the Virginia Mining Co. are being repaired and the smoke stack painted and many believe that it means a resumption of mining by the fee owners themselves.

W. J. Rattle, an independent chemist of Cleveland, Ohio, has been inspecting the Kennedy mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore Co. at Cuyuna. The Kennedy laid off Thursday on account of the "Midsummer Day" holiday. The Croft mine at Crosby is engaged in staking operations, the crew to be increased shortly.

At the Mahanomet pit, trestles are being built from which to dump the waste into a swamp. The Hill Crest has a unit of its hydraulic system in operation. The Rowe pit is building a huge concentrator which is expected to be in operation in August.

Activities of the United States Steel Corporation are steadily increasing, says the Iron Trade Review. Its plants are now running at slightly under 85 per cent of ingot capacity, which will be augmented by additions now planned, including resumption at the North Sharon plant of the Carnegie Steel Co. and the Columbus works. Bookings of the corporation are keeping ahead of its heavy shipments. Good reports also come from leading independents.

Although the lake ore trade drags, some eastern companies will use greater tonnage of Lake Superior ore than in recent years.

Shipments in the United States have been ordered somewhat more freely and further buying by Russia and other foreign countries is in prospect.

TWO MINDS THAT DID AS ONE.

When Dr. Anna Shaw and Miss Anthony Lectured Together.

We traveled and lectured together so constantly that each of us developed an almost uncanny knowledge of the other's mental processes. At any point of either's lecture the other could pick it up and carry it on—a fortunate condition, as it sometimes became necessary to do this. Miss Anthony was subject to contractions of the throat, which for the moment caused a slight strangulation. On such occasions of which there were several—she would turn to me and indicate her helplessness. Then I would repeat her last sentence, complete her speech and afterward make my own.

The first time this happened we were in Washington, and Aunt Susan stopped in the middle of a word. She could not speak; she merely motioned to me to continue for her and left the stage. At the end of the evening a prominent Washington man who had been in our audience remarked to me confidentially:

"That was a nice little play you and Miss Anthony made tonight—very effective indeed."

For an instant I did not catch his meaning or the implication in his knowing smile.

"Very clever, that strangling bit, and your going on with the speech," he repeated. "It hit the audience hard."

"Surely," I protested, "you don't think it was a deliberate thing—that we planned or rehearsed it?"

"Are you going to pretend," he demanded, "that it wasn't a put up job?"

I told him he had paid us a high compliment and that we must really have done very well if we had conveyed that impression, and I finally convinced him that we not only had not rehearsed the episode, but that neither of us had known what the other meant to say. We never wrote out our speeches, but our subject was always suffrage or some ramification of suffrage, and naturally we had thoroughly digested each other's views.

MAKING MUSIC BOXES.

Great Skill and Meager Pay For the Experts of Geneva.

One big industry of Geneva, Switzerland, is the manufacture of music boxes. Thousands of men, women and children are employed in the factories, one of which was visited by a young American, who thus writes about the visit:

An attendant invited him to take a seat. He did so, and strains of delightful music came from the chair. He hung his hat on a rack and put his traveling staff in the stand. Music came from both rack and stand. He wrote his name in the visitors' register, and on dipping his pen in the ink the music burst forth from the inkstand.

The manager of the factory explained the process of making music boxes, a business which requires patience and sleety.

The music is marked on the cylinder by a man who has served several years of apprenticeship. Another man inserts in the marked places pegs which have been filed to a uniform length. The comb or set of teeth which strikes the pegs and makes the sound is arranged by a man who does nothing else. The cylinder is then revolved to see that every peg produces a proper tone.

The most delicate work of all is the polishing of each peg. It is done by a workman who has a good ear for music. He sees that each peg is in its proper place and bent at the correct angle.

The best workmen—those who mark the cylinder and adjust the pegs—earn $1.50 a day, after serving an apprenticeship of ten or twelve years. An ordinary workman earns $1 a day.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TAFT AND BRYAN IN PEACE RANKS Both Can Get a Hearing Before American People.

WANT THEIR VIEWS KNOWN

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 26.—[Special.]—The peace people ought to be well satisfied with their recent acquisitions. They have obtained William J. Bryan, who sacrificed his place in the cabinet so that he might write and talk about peace. They have obtained William H. Taft, who as president and secretary of war recommended a large increase in the army and the upbuilding of the navy.

Both of these men can get a hearing before the American people. Bryan can get space in the papers, room on the telegraph wires and plenty of people to listen to him. Taft is not quite so fortunate in the matter of newspaper space and wire service, but he can get mention nearly every time he writes or speaks.

Want a Place in the Sun.

Both Bryan and Taft want a place in the sun. They do not want to have their light hidden under any bushel. No cave dwelling for them! Both want it understood that they know a lot about public affairs and are competent to give advice. Bryan gives his with sledgehammer blows, and Taft speaks with judicial calmness. But they speak and say their pieces just the same. The peace people have corralled a couple of people who will get nearly as much space and publicity as Colonel Roosevelt, who takes the other tack and insists upon a big navy and adequate armed protection for the country.

Few Confidants.

President Wilson has no newspaper confidants. Unlike other presidents, he does not have a few personal newspaper friends to whom he confides his opinions and occasionally gives a pointer as to some important matter. One or two newspaper men have been able to see President Wilson alone on a few occasions. Then they have a chance to talk about affairs, and sometimes they have published his opinions. But there are mighty few newspaper men the president knows intimately; that he has more than a possible speaking acquaintance with. Even the "commissioners" from some of the big metropolitan papers cannot get audiences and interviews, as has been the case in times past. Not even editors of newspapers have the open door at the White House.

How About the Cabinet?

The question naturally arises whether the president is confidential with the members of his cabinet. If so, then he has a mighty closed mouthed lot of men about him. Few members of the cabinet ever tell anything about what the president says, nor is there much "high authority" information escaping these days, which indicates that either cabinet members do not know what is deep in the mind of the president or that they are mighty careful not to let it leak.

A Real Independent.

Great admiration is expressed for the independent party man—that is, the man who is a partisan, but who is not blind to party faults and takes a firm stand for what he thinks is right. Such a man was the late Charles E. Littlefield, and he had to quit public life because he was not the right kind of a man to hold the votes of the people. He took a different stand from his party on the legislation following the Spanish war and maintained his views after the political decisions of the supreme court regarding the islands. He stood out almost alone for the rights of Brigham H. Roberts, the polygamist who was thrown out of congress by a rabid majority. He took a firm stand on certain labor bills, and organized labor devoted its best talent and a great deal of money to defeat him. The independent always has trouble if he stands for what he thinks is right.

Public Parks.

Secretary Lane has approved the idea of making more national parks which will include the wonder spots of the country. Already quite a number have been made over the opposition of economists because it takes some money to keep them up. But so far as I have heard there has never been an effort to abandon a public park containing some wonder spot of the country. As we look at the Mammoth Cave, Luray and some other places we regret that they were not reserved as public parks.

Jim Mann's Record.

Jim Mann has learned that a record is sometimes inconvenient for a presidential possibility, but every man who takes a prominent part in congress must make a record. There is no chance for him to dodge and get away with it, even if he wanted to, and Mann is not the kind of a person who dodges any question. The prohibition people seem determined to make Mann's record against the Hobson prohibition amendment count against him as a presidential candidate.

He Saved Leo Frank

When Governor John Marshall Slaton of Georgia commuted the sentence of Leo M. Frank to life imprisonment, he issued a statement in which he said it meant he must live in obscurity the rest of his days. He said:

"Feeling as I do about this case I would be a murderer if I allowed this man to hang. It means that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days, but I would rather be plowing in a field than to feel for the rest of my life that I had that man's blood on my hands."

Governor Slaton is forty-nine years of age. He entered politics as a member of the Georgia House of Representatives in 1896 and remained until 1909. He was speaker for four years. He was in the Georgia Senate for four years, and became acting governor when Hoke Smith was elected to the United States Senate. In October, 1912 he was elected governor of Georgia to serve till June 30 of this year.

SCHOOL READERS.

The Ones That Swayed the Boys of a Generation Ago.

STIRRING "PIECES TO SPEAK"

Favorite Selections of the Days of Yore Find No Favor in the Newer Books—Lament of an Old Timer and a Bookstore Chat.

Forty school weeks mean forty Friday afternoons. Forty Friday afternoons mean to the pupils in some schools near New York forty hated piece speaking occasions.

"What," asked the boy of Smith Apperson, "pater," "shall I speak next time?"

"Well, not recite Richard III. to his troops at Bosworth field?" Apperson miswondered confidently. "There's a piece with lots of slum and go to it. Or there is 'Spartacus to the Gladiators.'"

"Who was he, Spartacus?"

"Don't you know who Spartacus was? Look in your Fifth reader. It tells all about him there."

"Not in my reader," insisted the boy.

"Not in?" Mr. Apperson looked stumped, but he pulled himself together.

"Flow about 'Freedom Shrieked When Kosciuszko Fell?' he asked.

"Got that in your reader?"

"No, sir."

"And 'My Name is Norval on the Grampian Hills?'"

"The Grampians are in Scotland, I believe, but who was Norval and why the limitation to his name?" the boy asked.

"Huh! And that 'Midnight in His Guarded Tent' when the Turk Lay Dreaming of the Hour? Got that in your reader?"

"No, sir."

"What kind of reader have you got?"

Smith Apperson demanded. "Once more. Does the 'Deep and Dark Blue Ocean' roll on through any of the pages of that expurgated edition they've palmed off on you for a reader?"

"Well, there is something about the ocean."

"Good; we've saved the ocean. How about 'I Give My Hand With My Heart In It?'"

"Fshaw! Everybody knows that piece."

"Yes, yes; then there is something besides waste paper in that reader. Does it by any chance cry to you from its pages to 'Strike for Your Altars and Your Fires?'"

"No, sir."

"My mistake," Smith Apperson exclaimed. "I asked you about that piece before. It's a great one too. I used to get it off regularly twice a term, and when I didn't do it some other boy did. Never a piece day came round but some one struck out for his altars and his fires. I'll get you a copy of the kind of reader I used to have."

Mr. Apperson went the next day into a downtown book store, known to him as a place where, if he did not have a book, they would get it for you if it was to be had.

"I want a copy of McGuffey's old Fifth reader," said he.

"So do I," replied the owner of the store, who knew Apperson well. "I'll buy a gross of them at a good price. Scarcely a week goes by that I do not have a call for that book or for some other old school book."

"How?" asked Mr. Apperson, "how do you account for it?"

"Well, it's this way," said the proprietor. "A father asks his boy something about what he himself had studied at school, thinking, probably, to test him. The boy fails to give the correct answer or says he never 'took' it in his grade. The father looks into the boy's book or books and finds, as

perhaps in your case, that the stories in which he delighted are not included in the reader editions of today. Then he comes here to get a school book that is what he calls a real school book.

"For instance, only a few days ago a man came in for an old geography. He said the book his boy studied was absolutely of no account, historically at least.

"What do you mean, history in a geography?" I asked.

"Why," he replied, "I asked my boy about the isthmus of Darien, and he had never heard of such a place; didn't know there had ever been anything of the sort. Of course he could and did tell me all about the isthmus of Panama, but Darien wasn't in his geography. Now, I want that boy to know there was an isthmus of Darien, and I don't want him to have to take his father's word for it. Give me an old geography, one of about thirty-five years ago."

"I couldn't fill the order. Old school books are rare. Everybody wants them, some to renew memories of their youth by reading over the old pieces, others because they want to show to their children what they had to go through when they themselves went to school."

"Webster's Speller, Sander's Reader and McGuffey's Reader are the particular books which seem to stay in the memories of the old boy and the old girl. But I can't sell them because I haven't got them."

"Precisely, as you say,"—New York Post.

LIFE ON A SUBMARINE.

There Are No Comforts, and Sleep is Almost Impossible.

Speaking of life on a submarine, one of Uncle Sam's naval officers stationed on one of these under sea terrors says:

"Every minute the men are in the submarine means the risk of pneumonia and tuberculosis. The entire inside of the boat sweats like a pitcher of ice water on a hot day. Before we are on it three hours our clothes are soaked, and they stay that way. We have absolutely no heat, which means that the boat is the temperature of the outside air. Sometimes we nearly freeze. The doctors say that the men on a submarine never sleep; they merely become unconscious for brief intervals. The air, the odors from the machinery, the constant vibration and the intense strain under which you labor make sleep an impossibility."

"In a storm, when we have to seal up, the air gets worse than anything you can imagine. There are eighteen men and two officers in one of our boats, and at any moment any one of the twenty may cause the death of all the rest. There is no room for mistakes. The space in which the men live is fifty feet long and about ten feet wide. I can stand upright if I pick my place, but most of the time my shoulders are bent. There are no bunks; we all spread our mattresses on an iron deck. The dining room consists of four electric hot plates. Nothing in the nature of a spark is allowed below decks, but we can heat up coffee on the hot plates and occasionally fry things. We can't smoke, and the vibration of the engines makes it impossible to read or even play cards, so when we are not working there's nothing for us to do but sit on the floor and look at each other."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

TAFT AND BRYAN IN PEACE RANKS

Both Can Get a Hearing Before American People.

WANT THEIR VIEWS KNOWN

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 26.—[Special.]—The peace people ought to be well satisfied with their recent acquisitions. They have obtained William J. Bryan, who sacrificed his place in the cabinet so that he might write and talk about peace. They have obtained William H. Taft, who as president and secretary of war recommended a large increase in the army and the upbuilding of the navy.

Both of these men can get a hearing before the American people. Bryan can get space in the papers, room on the telegraph wires and plenty of people to listen to him. Taft is not quite so fortunate in the matter of newspaper space and wire service, but he can get mention nearly every time he writes or speaks.

Want a Place in the Sun.

Both Bryan and Taft want a place in the sun. They do not want to have their light hidden under any bushel. No cave dwelling for them! Both want it understood that they know a lot about public affairs and are competent to give advice. Bryan gives his with sledgehammer blows, and Taft speaks with judicial calmness. But they speak and say their pieces just the same. The peace people have corralled a couple of people who will get nearly as much space and publicity as Colonel Roosevelt, who takes the other tack and insists upon a big navy and adequate armed protection for the country.

Few Confidants.

President Wilson has no newspaper confidants. Unlike other presidents, he does not have a few personal newspaper friends to whom he confides his opinions and occasionally gives a pointer as to some important matter. One or two newspaper men have been able to see President Wilson alone on a few occasions. Then they have a chance to talk about affairs, and sometimes they have published his opinions. But there are mighty few newspaper men the president knows intimately; that he has more than a possible speaking acquaintance with. Even the "commissioners" from some of the big metropolitan papers cannot get audiences and interviews, as has been the case in times past. Not even editors of newspapers have the open door at the White House.

How About the Cabinet?

The question naturally arises whether the president is confidential with the members of his cabinet. If so, then he has a mighty closed mouthed lot of men about him. Few members of the cabinet ever tell anything about what the president says, nor is there much "high authority" information escaping these days, which indicates that either cabinet members do not know what is deep in the mind of the president or that they are mighty careful not to let it leak.

A Real Independent.

Great admiration is expressed for the independent party man—that is, the man who is a partisan, but who is not blind to party faults and takes a firm stand for what he thinks is right. Such a man was the late Charles E. Littlefield, and he had to quit public life because he was not the right kind of a man to hold the votes of the people. He took a different stand from his party on the legislation following the Spanish war and maintained his views after the political decisions of the supreme court regarding the islands. He stood out almost alone for the rights of Brigham H. Roberts, the polygamist who was thrown out of congress by a rabid majority. He took a firm stand on certain labor bills, and organized labor devoted its best talent and a great deal of money to defeat him. The independent always has trouble if he stands for what he thinks is right.

Public Parks.

Secretary Lane has approved the idea of making more national parks which will include the wonder spots of the country. Already quite a number have been made over the opposition of economists because it takes money to keep them up. But so far as I have heard there has never been an effort to abandon a public park containing some wonder spot of the country. As we look at the Mammoth Cave, Luray and some other places we regret that they were not reserved as public parks.

Jim Mann's Record.

Jim Mann has learned that a record is sometimes inconvenient for a presidential possibility, but every man who takes a prominent part in congress must make a record. There is no chance for him to dodge and get away with it, even if he wanted to, and Mann is not the kind of a person who dodges any question. The prohibition people seem determined to make Mann's record against the Hobson prohibition amendment count against him as a presidential candidate.

He Saved Leo Frank

When Governor John Marshall Slaton of Georgia commuted the sentence of Leo M. Frank to life imprisonment, he issued a statement in which he said it meant he must live in obscurity the rest of his days. He said:

"Feeling as I do about this case I would be a murderer if I allowed this man to hang. It means that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days, but I would rather be plowing in a field than to feel for the rest of my life that I had that man's blood on my hands."

Governor Slaton is forty-nine years of age. He entered politics as a member of the Georgia House of Representatives in 1896 and remained until 1909. He was speaker for four years. He was in the Georgia Senate for four years, and became acting governor when Hoke Smith was elected to the United States Senate. In October, 1912 he was elected governor of Georgia to serve till June 30 of this year.

SCHOOL READERS.

Favorite Selections of the Days of Yore Find No Favor in the Newer Books—Lament of an Old Timer and a Bookstore Chat.

Forty school weeks mean forty Friday afternoons. Forty Friday afternoons mean to the pupils in some schools near New York forty hatted piece speaking occasions.

"What," asked the boy of Smith Apperson, "pater," "shall I speak next time?"

"Why not recite Richard III. to his troops at Bosworth field?" Apperson answered confidently. "There's a piece with lots of slum and go to 't. Or there is 'Spartacus to the Gladiators'."

"Who was he, Spartacus?"

"Don't you know who Spartacus was? Look in your Fifth reader. It tells all about him there."

"Not in my reader," insisted the boy. "Not in—Mr. Apperson locked stumped, but he pulled himself together. 'How about 'Freedom Shrieked When Kosciuszko Fell'?" he asked.

"Got that in your reader?"

"No, sir."

"And 'My Name Is Norval on the Grandpaul Hills'?"

"The Grandpauls are in Scotland, I believe, but who was Norval and why the limitation to his name?" the boy asked.

"Hum! And that 'Midnight in His Guarded Tent' when 'The Turk Lay Dreaming of the Hour' Got that in your reader?"

"No, sir."

"What kind of reader have you got?" Smith Apperson demanded. "Once more. Does the 'Deep and Dark Blue Ocean' roll on through any of the pages of that expurgated edition they've palmed off on you for a reader?"

"Well, there is something about the ocean."

"Good; we've saved the ocean. How about 'I Give My Hand With My Heart In It'?"

"Tshaw! Everybody knows that piece."

"Yes, yes; then there is something besides waste paper in that reader. Does it by any chance cry to you from its pages to 'Strike for Your Altars and Your Fires'?"

"No, sir."

"My mistake," Smith Apperson exclaimed. "I asked you about that piece before. It's a great one too. I used to get it off regularly twice a term, and when I didn't do it some other boy did. Never a piece day came round but some one struck out for his altars and his fires. I'll get you a copy of the kind of reader I used to have."

Mr. Apperson went the next day into a downtown book store, known to him as a place where, if they did not have a book, they would get it for you if it was to be had.

"I want a copy of McGuffey's old Fifth reader," said he.

"So do I," replied the owner of the store, who knew Apperson well. "I'll buy a gross of them at a good price. Scarcely a week goes by that I do not have a call for that book or for some other old school book."

"How," asked Mr. Apperson, "how do you account for it?"

"Well, it's this way," said the proprietor. "A father asks his boy something about what he himself had studied at school, thinking, probably, to test him. The boy fails to give the correct answer or says he never 'took' it in his grade. The father looks into the boy's book or books and finds, as

perhaps in your case, that the stories in which he delighted are not included in the reader editions of today. Then he comes here to get a school book that is what he calls a real school book.

"For instance, only a few days ago a man came in for an old geography. He said the book his boy studied was absolutely of no account, historically at least.

"What do you mean, history in a geography?" I asked.

"Why," he replied, "I asked my boy about the Isthmus of Darien, and he had never heard of such a place; didn't know there had ever been anything of the sort. Of course he could and did tell me all about the Isthmus of Panama, but Darien wasn't in his geography. Now, I want that boy to know there was an Isthmus of Darien, and I don't want him to have to take his father's word for it. Give me an old geography, one of about thirty-five years ago."

"I couldn't all the order. Old school books are rare. Everybody wants them some to renew memories of their youth by reading over the old pieces, others because they want to show to their children what they had to go through when they themselves went to school.

"Webster's Speller, Sauter's Reader and McGuffey's Reader are the particular books which seem to stay in the memories of the old boy and the old girl. But I can't sell them because I haven't got them."

"Precisely, as you say,"—New York Post.

LIFE ON A SUBMARINE.

There Are No Comforts, and Sleep Is Almost Impossible.

Speaking of life on a submarine, one of Uncle Sam's naval officers stationed on one of these under sea terrors says:

"Every minute the men are in the submarine means the risk of pneumonia and tuberculosis. The entire inside of the boat sweats like a pitcher of ice water on a hot day. Before we are on it three hours our clothes are soaked, and they stay that way. We have absolutely no heat, which means that the boat is the temperature of the outside air. Sometimes we nearly freeze. The doctors say that the men on a submarine never sleep; they merely become unconscious for brief intervals. The air, the odors from the machinery, the constant vibration and the intense strain under which you labor make sleep an impossibility.

"In a storm, when we have to seal up the air gets worse than anything you can imagine. There are eighteen men and two officers in one of our boats, and at any moment any one of the twenty may cause the death of all the rest. There is no room for mistakes. The space in which the men live is fifty feet long and about ten feet wide. I can stand upright if I pick my place, but most of the time my shoulders are bent. There are no bunks; we all spread our mattresses on an iron deck. The dining room consists of four electric hot plates. Nothing in the nature of a spark is allowed below decks, but we can heat up coffee on the hot plates and occasionally fry things. We can't smoke, and the vibration of the engines makes it impossible to read or even play cards, so when we are not working there's nothing for us to do but sit on the floor and look at each other."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.
